Ichigo Takano, a Japanese manga-ka who specializes in shoujo manga is best known as the creator of Orange.

I love this series and I can't wait for the 2nd part of the collection to come out. If you're a fan of romance, teenage life, and good story telling then give this manga a shot!

Okay so in full honesty, I love this series (2 volumes). The characters and the plot is beautiful; well done. But the only reason for my rating is because of the ending being a bit unsatisfying. It could have been better. Love the Anime adaption as well! It seems like Anime has finally been getting more interesting. Let's hope 2017 unravels something greater in the Anime community.

Awesome story- you fall in love with the characters right off the bat! Some good twists in here, too. One thing I noticed was about the print though, it seems there is a set of pages that is repeated twice. I'm not sure if it's supposed to be this way since the reprint is identical. I also think it's missing something. In online versions, the friends tell Kakeru to join the men's beauty contest and so on, but I never read that in the book. Wondering if there was a printing mistake here?

Definitely one of my top favorite mangas of all time, now FINALLY published in the US, thanks Seven Seas. The characters are very developed and highly interesting, and you'll go through every emotion possible in this story. Literally have not cried harder reading a story. Can't wait until the second volume comes out later this year. Would talk more but I don't want to spoil anything. If you like shojo, just go read it. :)

I bought this manga and the second one because I enjoyed the anime so much. The art is absolutely beautiful, and it is very apparent that the anime stayed true to the characters design and the art from the manga. I would recommend this to anyone who enjoys slice of life and a story that involves the truest test of friendship.

Well the story is sad but you still have your hopes up for a happy ending, interesting characters and you get attached to them all and hope they can achieve what they want. Naho gets a letter from her future self about all the things she regrets and about an exchange student Kakeru, how he is no longer with them in the future and that she wants her to save him. So you hope they can save him, but when the story has your hopes up, they toss in some sad scenes and you begin to doubt if there will be a happy ending, but the story is really good and I can't wait to see how it ends~. And the delivery of the book was fast and came in good shape.

This manga is amazing, it is very emotional it has its sad and happy moments enthralling I finished it in a day. The book made me cry and laugh and blush. I totally recommend it

This manga was amazing, I would say it's a long read but it's at a good pace, I love the characters, orange is impactful and it teaches you how much death impacts life's and also to cherish life and stop regretting, I've never heard of someone disliking orange or even just liking orange everyone one who has read orange has fallen in love with it and the meaning, it's a must read!!
