Euripides: Medea, Hippolytus, Heracles, Bacchae

Synopsis

This anthology includes four outstanding translations of Euripides's plays: Medea, Bacchae, Hippolytus, and Heracles. These translations remain close to the original, with extensive introductions, interpretive essays, and footnotes. This series is designed to provide students and general readers with access to the nature of Greek drama, Greek mythology, and the context of Greek culture, as well as highly readable and understandable translations of four of Euripides' most important plays. Focus also publishes each play as an individual volume.

Stephen Esposito is Associate Professor of Classics at Boston University where, in 2009/10, he won Frank and Lynne Wisneski Award for Teaching Excellence. He has previously translated Euripides' "Bacchae" and edited "Euripides: Medea, Hippolytus, Heracles, Bacchae", both for Focus Publishing. He is also the founding editor of the new Oxford Greek and Latin College Commentaries, the first volume of which will be his grammatical commentary (with running vocabulary) on Sophocles' Oedipus Tyrannos.

Chastity, infanticide and craziness are the themes of these classic plays by the most modern ancient playwright. Thoroughly enjoyable.

A fine translation of these classics.

Brand new condition!!! Awesome!!

This does not have line numbers or chapters so it is very difficult to keep up with my class. Also, the text is pretty much just a dumbed-down paraphrased version. I'm having to use the free online text version anyway. If you absolutely have to buy the physical book, buy a more reliable, more expensive version; it will be worth the extra 10 bucks.

I had to buy this book for a class and my teacher was very particular about the edition and publisher that we got. This is the exact copy of the one he requested so it is nice to know that allows you to be that specific.

good

It is a great book for a great price, especially for a college requirement. Glad i get to keep it for future reading.

It's a textbook that I had to have for class... a lot cheaper here than in the campus bookstore!
