Digital Stockholm Syndrome In The Post-Ontological Age (Forerunners: Ideas First)

Synopsis

Once, humans were what they believed. Now, the modern person is determined by data exhaust—•an invisible anthropocentric ether of ones and zeros that is a product of our digitally monitored age. Author Mark Jarzombek argues that the world has become redesigned to fuse the algorithmic with the ontological, and the discussion of ontology must be updated to rethink the question of Being. In Digital Stockholm Syndrome in the Post-Ontological Age, Jarzombek provocatively studies the new interrelationship between human and algorithm. Forerunners is a thought-in-process series of breakthrough digital works. Written between fresh ideas and finished books, Forerunners draws on scholarly work initiated in notable blogs, social media, conference plenaries, journal articles, and the synergy of academic exchange. This is gray literature publishing: where intense thinking, change, and speculation take place in scholarship.

"Provides a brief, yet stylistically ironic and incisive interrogation into how recent iterations of post- or inhumanist theory have found a strange bedfellow in the rhetorical boosterism that accompanies the alleged affordances of digital technologies and big data."—Boundary 2

Mark Jarzombek is a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he has been teaching since 1995. He specializes in the history and theory of architecture.

This is one of the sharpest reads about the deeply counter-intuitive cosmology of our current and forthcoming social, political imagination. It tackles ontology at its weakest surface of Being. Jarzombek elucidates our wholly disintegrated, yet highly agitated (in)human selves, tacitly explaining in riveting detail why the "new social" delivers us into the post-ontological, post-fact age. This loose, funny, incisive, informative post-historical manifest seems to even predict and depose, in bizarre, retrospective detail, the how and why of the Global Trump event(s)... finding answers where I least expect it... way better than any stupefied New York Times election hangover op-ed. Really. An excellent hand, no small feat. Enjoy.

Punchy and surreal - a McLuhan for the 21st century. - or at least the start of it. Here is to all the pharma-digitally-designed, digitally,-tortured (in)humans!
